Entered at North Platte, Nebraska, Post office as Second Class Matter.

FRIDAY, JUNE 16, 1911.

In these days notoriety is equal to fame. This is shown by the ovation given Jack Johnson, the colored prize fighter upon his arrival in London, where he has gone to witness the coronation ceremonies.

Postmaster General Hitchcock is making his promise good to have 1,000 postal savings banks in operation by July 1st. Up to last Saturday 700 of these banks had been opened; the other 300 will be in operation by June 30th.

A Pittsburgh glassblower left Saturday with his family for a visit at his old home in Belgium. There is nothing striking about this until there is added the statement that his family consisted of a wife and twenty-four children. Imagine what it costs that man to take his family on a pleasure trip.

Yesterday was the fortieth anniversary of the Omaha Bee, which unquestionably is Nebraska's greatest newspaper. The Bee is a clean newspaper, it is reliable, it gives the news that is news, and its editorial policy has been as nearly consistent as it is possible for a newspaper. We wish the Bee continued success.

Omaha is up in arms because it is charged ten cents per hundred more for ice than is charged in Denver, Des Moines, Kansas City and other western cities. The Omaha ice dealers justify the extra charge on the grounds that it costs more to put up ice in Omaha than in the other cities. Perhaps so, perhaps not.

Now and then you run across a man who is opposed to the direct election of United States senators. These men claim that so far as money figures in the election of senators, it can be placed among the voters as well as it is among members of the legislature. We don't think so. It is easier to buy for $5,000 the vote of a legislator than it is to buy 2,500 votes of two dollars a head or 500 at ten dollars each.

Under the Cronin bill which passed the last legislature, the state is to pay one-half the cost of the bridges where the length is over 175 feet, but the liability of the state is limited to a levy of one-fifth mill, which produces about $90,000 per annum. It is improbable, however, that this bridge law will be made effective during the next two years because it failed to carry an appropriation clause; that is, the money derived from the levy was not specifically appropriated. Lawyers hold that this will tie up the money derived from the levy until the legislature of 1913 amends the law.

The last legislature passed a law providing for the appointment by the commissioners of a county road supervisor, which law becomes effective January 1, 1912. The duty of this official is to supervise the construction of all county roads, and the salary is, if we remember rightly, $1,500 per year. In Lincoln county from $15,000 to $18,000 is spent annually for road work, and it would seem that this county would be justified in having a supervisor to see that this money was expended judiciously and with the best results to farmers, who above all others, are vitally interested in good roads. The supervisor should be a man who would make good roads a study; one who would study the conditions of our soil and use that information in an intelligent way. We have in North Platte a man who has shown his interest in good roads for several years past and in several instances has demonstrated his views in the way of practical road making. We refer to O. H. Thoelecke. It is not likely Mr. Thoelecke would seek the position, but we believe he would accept in order to put into operation his idea of good roads. He has made the question of good roads a study, and where his ideas have been followed a very noticeable improvement has been made at a minimum cost. We believe that the farmers of the county should interest themselves more fully in the good roads movement, for certainly it is to their interest to have good roads, and we further believe that the way to secure the best results is to have the work done under the direction of a supervisor.

Socialists and the Liquor Question.

The position of the socialist party on the liquor question is submitted to The Tribune by committeeman A. E. Bell as follows:

There has been some criticism and accusation against the socialist party lately regarding the liquor question. A few misinformed individuals have been peddling the news that we are against the saloons. To put the people of North Platte and vicinity right as to our position on this much discussed question, we will take advantage of this opportunity to explain.

Councilman Donaldson has been criticized for not voting either for nor against saloons. The city council is elected for one purpose, namely, to do the business of this city satisfactory to the people. The logical way to find out what will be satisfactory is to submit such important issues to the people at our regular elections, and then act as the majority express themselves. As the socialist party is a party of the majority, we cannot allow our candidate to assume a partisan position. If the majority of the people conclude that they want saloons, we will see that they have them, and give the saloon business the same protection as any other legitimate business. But on the contrary if the majority vote to not have saloons, we pledge ourselves to see that the wishes of the majority are carried out.

Therefore we contend that the solution of this question is possible only through the initiative and referendum.

Worked the Visitor.

"Speaking about visiting Englishmen," said a hotel manager recently who had been reading about one in the newspapers, "reminds me of one that came to the Palmer House in Chicago some years ago when I was room clerk out there. He and another had been paying a visit to the Rockies, and their last stopping place had been Cheyenne. Coming east they had fallen in with some Americans who made themselves agreeable, with this result:

"After they had put their names on the register one of the Englishmen leaned over the desk.

"I say," he whispered, "I am expecting President Cleveland's son to call this evening to return £50 which I lent him on the train. Will you please put the money in the safe for me if it do not happen to be in?"

"I promised, for I had not the heart to shatter his confidence in human nature. President Cleveland didn't happen to have such a thing as a son at that time."—New York Sun.

Royal Perquisites.

The king has many privileges which he never exercises. He enjoys an immemorial right to all gold and silver mines, not only on his own land, but upon any of his subjects' lands within his dominions. So shareholders in Rand and Westralian mines would have to forego their dividends if the king felt aversely disposed. The king is also entitled to a yearly tribute from his tailor, consisting of a pair of white doves, a pound of cummin seed, a pair of scarlet hose and a silver needle.

All sturgeons and whales caught in British waters are royal perquisites. The whale has a split liability. Its tail belongs to the queen, while its head goes to the king. It is generally assumed that the partition was decided upon in order that the queen should always be supplied with whalebone, but if so the founder of this act of beneficence committed the mistake of giving the queen the wrong half.—London Chronicle.

If you haven't the time to do it, or if you don't know how, just send it to us. We are doing a great deal of this kind of work this spring, as well as cleaning, dyeing, pressing and adding new collars and cuffs. ## Homeopathy Principles

Similea, Similibus, Curantus.

A like remedy will cure a like disease—as a remedy which has the same symptoms, or produces the same in the well, will cure those in the sick, and with nature's help will cure quicker than any other, and with less expense to the human economy. This system of medicine has at its command anything in the realm of cure, such as electricity in any form, the Vibrator, Massage, Hydrotherapies. Therefore the correctness of choosing this line of treatment, rather than whims with a single borrowed idea. For out of town patients and all those interested; rooms furnished when desired; for confinement, medical and the necessary surgical cases. Trained nurses in attendance.
